The Issue at Hand

An excerpt from the Fall 2020 Playbook for Our Safe Return to Campus:

“All face-to-face classes will be live streamed. Live-streamed classes will enable those students who choose to participate virtually to be part of the face-to-face classes and engage with other in-class students. All classes will be recorded as supplemental learning materials.”

A similar passage was included in the Summer 2020 Playbook for Our Safe Return to Campus.

The Questions that Need Answers

While I feel that it is a good idea to record these class sessions to give the students another resource to aid in their success, I have the following questions related to this policy:

1. Who owns the rights to these videos including any intellectual property contained within them?
2. What are the plans for these videos after the end of each term?
3. If archived (and not permanently deleted), what is our policy related to future use of these videos?
